

FORTY DETECTIVES TRYING TO IDENTIFY MURDERED WOMAN

Strands of Man's Black Hair Are Valuable Clue to Her Slayer.

Forty detectives, representing the various police forces of the city, are today in the lower part of Westchester County on the hope of identifying the murdered woman whose body was found buried under a pile of rocks at One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Street and Noble Avenue, the Bronx. The Van Ness station of the New York, Westchester and Boston Railroad is but a short distance from where the young woman was beaten to death and the police believe she came from one of the trains through which the railroad passes.

Detectives have questioned the residents of the vicinity of almost every house reported missing during the past month, and it has been practically decided the slain woman was not reported missing in this city. The coroner's inquest was held in a rooming house, where the police only did not get in New York City, although his records may reach small towns in the vicinity.

The woman's features and general appearance, the police say, indicate she was either a Finn or a Pole. They think it probable she was a servant and are trying to learn of any home from which a servant disappeared about ten days or two weeks ago.

That the woman fought desperately with her slayer is indicated by many clues. A twisted wire barrel hoop is believed to have been the weapon used to kill her. The police think the woman was turned to the place by a man and slain because, as the autopsy shows, she would in five or six months have become a mother.

The slayer evidently tried to carry the body into the bushes, but dropped it and dragged it through the weeds by the feet. A hat was picked up near the spot by a street cleaner about ten days ago, and an effort is being made to locate the finder.

A new clue has been found in a man's pocket comb which was in the woman's velvet bag near the body. There are strands of jet black hair, not the woman's, in this comb.

Over forty detectives are now at work on the case.

PRICELESS NEMO HYGIENIC FEATURES FREE

DEAR MADAM:—Last week we asked you to decide this question for yourself: When you buy a Nemo that you know is a big value simply as a corset, and receive hygienic features worth at least as much more without a penny of added cost—are you not getting SOMETHING, of great value to you, for NOTHING?

We are sure your answer will be "yes," though probably the idea never occurred to you before. Now that we've mentioned it, don't you think that all "wise women" should seek a good store where Nemo Corsets are handled intelligently, and solve their corset-problems by the Nemo method?

The value of Nemo hygienic features cannot be expressed in dollars or in words; nor are they of equal value to all women. To some they only mean better style and increased comfort; to others they mean freedom from pain and illness—in some cases the preservation of life itself.

A Favorite for Over Ten Years

Nemo Self-Reducing Corset, No. 403, was introduced in 1904. Always a favorite, it sells faster to-day than ever. It suits a certain type of full figure better than any other corset. It has the Nemo "bridge" (diagram 5), and the Nemo Lasticurve-Back (diagram 1), same as No. 322, described last week; also the improved Nemo Relief Bands (diagram 2), which give excellent abdominal support and reduction with greatest comfort, being now composed largely of semi-elastic Lasticurve Webbing. No. 403 is best adapted to a full figure with flesh evenly distributed. Medium bust, long skirt—the "Military Shape." Fine coutil or batiste, sizes 22 to 36—$4.00. (Also in extra sizes, up to 44, at $5.00.)

Don't Think of Nemos as "Just Corsets"

They are in a class alone, secure from competition. They do things for you that no other corsets can do. They combine splendid style and complete comfort with real economy. Next week we'll tell you more about this "SOMETHING for NOTHING."
